

BUILDING CUSTOMER SATISFACTION THE FOX WAY...

Since 1982, Fox Structures has focused on two things: listening to customers and delivering what we promise. That's a pretty simple business plan for a design/build contractor. The fact is, it works.

We believe that most customers already have a vision for what they want in a new facility. Maybe you do, too. If not, we'll provide the design services to integrate your ideas and needs into the ideal plan. You'll have our dedicated attention through every step of design and construction to ensure quality results in a timely and cost-efficient manner.

Those promises get delivered day in and day out by Fox Structures owners — skilled owners who are present on every job site. Through our hands-on approach, our team performs consistently to our strict quality standards. And should a new idea or need arise at any time, you can count on us to listen, advise and adjust as needed.

We take pride in our finished buildings. We take even greater pride building customer satisfaction. As a result, our customer loyalty is outstanding. Over 80 percent of our business today comes from repeat customers. That means a lot to us.
